

The way wisconsin administrates the no call list has allowed me to have days and evenings uninterrupted by invariably annoying sales calls. I never did and never will sign up for whatever is sold over the telephone; and having to respond to their unwanted solicitations only raises my blood pressure every time they call.